QUALITY

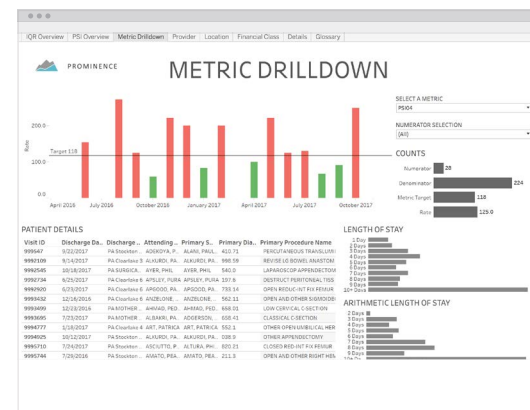

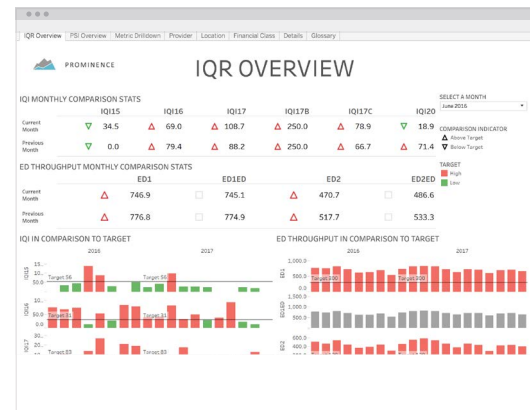

Quality Outcome

Among every health system's goals is to improve patient outcomes. Health systems report out on hundreds of these outcomes annually ranging from mortality, patient safety, readmissions, patient experience, effectiveness of care, timeliness of care to efficiency of imaging and tests. But outcomes improvement can't happen without effective outcomes measurement.

Use the Prominence Quality Outcome application to track key metrics across your organization on a regular basis to:

- Identify variations of care.
- Reveal areas in which process improvement or interventions could improve care.
- Compare the effectiveness of various treatments and procedures across providers and patients.
- Provide evidence about interventions that work best for certain types of patients under certain circumstances.

Regularly reviewing this information can transform the reporting process from just a tedious reporting process to something that saves your organization money or influences patient's decision to come to your organization for service.

Pair process and outcome measures to produce change at a provider or unit level. Process measures capture provider productivity and adherence to standards of recommended care.

Bring transparency and accountability to improve outcomes by viewing measures by date, unit and user to further identify and correct workflow and process issues.

Set targets. Meeting and exceeding targets, benefits not only quality of care, but also your organizations' marketing and contracting efforts.
