Medical Economics

The medical economics application is a strategic hub used to synthesize data and changes in that data. It allows executives to detect trend variations and recognize real opportunities by identifying metrics that are contributing to the success or poor performance of cost and utilization KPIs. It also provides an initial diagnosis of performance causation; allowing you to put together a strategic plan before diving into details.

Search and filter by any dimension, allowing unmatched interactivity and individual data discovery. Discover relationships in performance that you couldn't find anywhere else.

Analyze key metrics quickly including PMPM, Medical Los Ratio, Cost per Admission and IBNR.

Review cost and utilization KPI indicators over time for the largest cost categories including Inpatient, Outpatient, Pharmacy and Physician.

Trend your data, by payer and over time to ensure your payments are equal to costs.
